The image shows a 3D rendering of a software box for 'Prestaspeed Cache API'. The box is white with red and black accents. To the right of the box, there is promotional text in red and black, including a large '45X faster' claim and a call to action to clean the disk with a mouse click. The background is a red gradient.

But what else makes your site slow down?

At a certain stage of your ecommerce website use, the pages are cached, but the queries continue to run. Some of these queries are not necessarily being used. The page is displayed slower and gets a blow from the search engine ranking performance.

Our Cache API system does not render page again and again. Our Cache module generates a static html file, encrypt, and saves it for faster load time of up to less than a second. This is what separates us from our competitors!
